

New words

amrad- v. to climb. NME/367

‡ dangal- v. to shine back, reflect, mirror.

dúna- (ndúna-) v. to descend. NME/364 dúnad n. descent, winding path that descends. NME/364 felagund n. badger. NME/304

glaegal n. light as a substance, photons. NME/283 glathralvas n. a small pocket-sized signalling device akin to a heliograph that was also usable by moonlight; the light was not visible to any but Elvish eyes. NME/354 gordh I n. deep thought. NME/gwae n. violent wind. NME/237 lhim adj. sliding, slippery, gliding, sleek; of shiny surfaces or the quick movement of swiftly moving or flowing things. NME/284 limp II n. bright, clear, gleaming liquid; applied to pools of clear clean water. NME/284 nivol n. phantom, 'a seeming'; an appearance with no existence in the physical world, a picture in one mind transferred directly to another. NME/238

rand n. cycle. Ety/382 thû II n. movement of spirit, a word related to the movement of air. NME/237

Updated definitions

barad II n. a great towering building (fort, city, castle), tower. Never a tall and slender tower but more akin to the Tower of London. Ety/351, S/428, LotR/B, PE/17:22, NME/228 fela pl. fili n. 1. minor excavations made by wild animals, often used as lairs or setts 2. temporary dwellings by wandering folk; Dwarves or Elves, particularly the Petty-dwarves. PE/17:118, Ety/381, NME/304 gwaew n. wind (that can be seen moving objects). Ety/387 updated to gwaew n. storm, wind (that can be seen moving objects). Ety/387, NME/237

Updated spellings

men II n. way, road. UT/281 changed to menn n. way, road. UT/281, NME/372

Removed

idhra- v. to ponder replaced by geria- v. to ponder. NME/176